SUBJCT : General: Soviet News Bureau
Specific: Installations in Berlin/Weissensee

1. Introduction: The attached floor plans of the SNB office building at Park Strasse 94 are sketches only, not to scale. They are intended as a part of series of reports intended as graphic indication of the size and equipment of SNB in Berlin. Additional offices are known to be at another address on Park Strasse. Room numbers used in the attached plans are not the actual numbers in use in the building, but were used by source for convenience in reporting.

2. Park Strasse 94 was not built as an office building, but as a large villa. Its German owner is a certain Adolf GRILLE, at one time one of Berlin's largest wholesale and retail florists. The buildings surrounding the villa, some of which are also used by SNB, were designed and built as part of GRILLE's floral business. The villa has extensive grounds to the rear of it which once were part of the GRILLE gardens. The GRILLE family still lives in the villa, in the basement, and part of the second floor is given over to storage space for their household furnishings.

3. Attachment "A" (First Floor Plan):

a. Room 1: An unused cloak room.

b. Room 2: Capt LOZNEVY. Head of the Article Service of SNB, which prepares propaganda releases for German newspapers.

Field Comment: Probably identical with Pavel Maximovich LOZNEVY, reported in MGB-4189/BSC-797 as one of a group of Soviet newsmen who toured the British Zone with RIS missions (Source: British).

c. Room 3: GALKIN (cf MGB-4337/BSC-845), a member of the Science Department.

d. Room 4: German editorial employees.

e. Room 5: Maj STERN (cf MGB-4337/BSC-845). Head of the Science Department, and in charge of the preparation of news service releases for Russian newspapers.

f. Room 6: Unused hall.

4. Attachment "B" (Second Floor Plan):

a. Room I and II: Contains files of a nature unknown to Source. Only the more important members of the SNB staff (e.g., GREENBERG, EAMANTOV, KOLTYPIN) are permitted to use the files.

b. Room III: A German assistant to GREENBERG. His name is not known to source.

c. Room IV: GREENBERG's secretary.

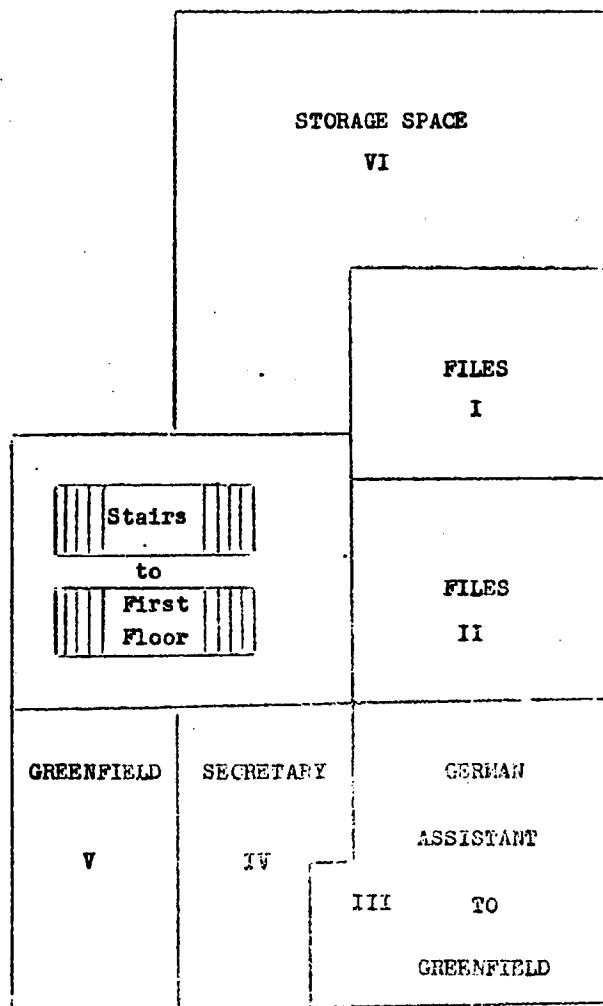

d. Room V: GREENBERG

e. Room VI: Storage space devoted to the household effects of the German owner of the house, GRILLE.

Field Comment: It should be pointed out that source, in designating the occupants of these rooms, referred not to GREENBERG, but to GREENFIELD. Apparently GREENBERG has contrived to make something of a mystery of himself among the German employees of SNB. CANISADE's subsource described him to CANISADE about two months ago as an Englishman, and both CANISADE and his subsource persist in calling him GREENFIELD. It has been quite definitely established that there is in fact no GREENFIELD on the SNB staff, and that CANISADE must refer to GREENBERG.
